

After watching or reading Prince Henry cut out these imaginary school rules and as a class decided which should be kept and which should be torn up (like in the story). If you do tear up a rule, what rule should replace it?

Only boys can play football in our school.	Only girls can wear dresses in our school.	All nationalities are welcome at our school.
You can speak more than one language and still come to our school.	We must all think the same way at our school.	You can have any kind of family and still come to our school.
At school we must all have the same religious beliefs.	Everyone must like eating pizza at our school.	You can have kind of skin colour at our school.
All abilities are welcome at our school.	You must be respectful towards others at our school.	Students must have short hair at our school.
